

JEWISH HERITAGE TOUR

It took centuries of anti-semitism and exclusion before Montreal Jews became aware that they truly belonged to a society like no other.

Not only did they form the “third solitude”, but they were sandwiched in between the other two along St. Laurent Blvd, the metropolis’s main street. It is there that they took up residence, worked relentlessly in the “schmata” industry and founded their own institutions, shops and places of worship.

Judaism in Quebec is distinct from that found in other parts of North America. Come discover, in the historic Jewish neighbourhood, all of its tenacity, warmth and originality. In addition, you’ll get acquainted with some real characters who played essential roles in the community. Shalom!

Available in a 2- or 3-hour format

Meeting point: Starbucks, 3601 St-Laurent Blvd. (corner Prince-Arthur St.)